

I don't think they should change the law just for one company because they have a few customers in this area.